

Where your knowledge can be our strength

knowledge strength

Aimagination is a novel approach to gather information, suggestions, and ideas about our business, industry, and people. Ideas drive organizations, and there is no greater source of ideas than the very people who work hard every day to meet our customer's needs. While primarily geared to employees, Aimagination is open to customers, vendors, and anyone with an idea to improve our company in any way. We will gather ideas or suggestions from our website, faxed forms, or an automated voice mail box.

Every suggestion will be recognized and considered, and although ideas can be anonymous, we hope to recognize the person who makes a suggestion with a token of appreciation. Drawings will be held for prizes for anyone who submits a valid idea, implemented or not. See the Aimagination section of our web site for more prize information.

The Aimagination committee is made up of members from various areas of the company to oversee the process, and to steer the incoming ideas to the appropriate personnel for evaluation. Ideas can vary from ways to save costs, improve communication, be more efficient, improve our workplaces, or better serve our customers in any way. The committee will make certain all ideas are carefully considered and decisions on suggestions are communicated to the group and the originator. Thank you for your ideas!
